

Joe Arrington Bio

Community activist, voice of reason and dedicated to the prosperity of all people, Joe Arrington is known throughout DeKalb for his service. An active member and organizer of the PRISM (Pride Rings In Stone Mountain), where he advocates for the improvement of Stone Mountain and southern economic centers along Memorial Drive. PRISM is a non-profit, grass roots, all volunteer organization working to bring a sense of pride to the community. The organization provides a forum to address common issues and share information. PRISM actively brings together the entire community including merchants, residents, churches, schools and other organizations under one umbrella to effect change and mobilize efforts to ensure results.
