2. AWC Case Workers that assist with social, and human services.
3. AWC Community Ambassadors that help with interpretation, translation, outreach, mobilization and canvassing among others.
4. AWC has two locations in Dekalb County that are less than 8 miles traveling distance for most of the women.

AWC Highlights:

- Last year, AWC awarded certificates of completion to 23 graduates from 8 different countries and gifted each woman with a new Singer sewing machine. The sewing program has a 98% Graduation rate. 74% started a home business. 87% say they now earn livable wages and have improved English speaking and coping skills – a powerful testimony and credit to our program instructors and ESL volunteers.
- We are proud of our manufacturing team of 14 workers from our workforce development efforts. - comprising students and alumnae who are earning income for sewing various items from contract orders: to name just a few....
 - * 2,000 high end pillow covers for a Marietta based company.
 - * 400 table runners for a Decatur small business owner.
 - * 100 make-up bags for an Alpharetta beauty accessories company.
 - * 2 graduates recently hired in the sewing department by a Decatur company with a pending MOU to hire more graduates from the program.
- Our team has been instrumental in developing our made in Clarkston line of products including, cross body bags, eye glass cases, pillowcases, table runners, aprons, and wine totes. These items made by the women are available for purchase online and at our showroom in Clarkston.
- AWC case workers assisted over 1,800 families with covid related emergencies since the pandemic with utility and rental assistance to avoid eviction or homelessness. They have screened over 2,600 families that were approved for Food Stamps - SNAP, Childcare-CAPS, MEDICAID, TANF, LIHEAP assistance – And this is still ongoing.

- AWC distributed over 625 pounds of food since the pandemic, over 600 test kits, over 4,200 diapers and wipes, 2,300 bottles of hand sanitizers and other PPE items. These donations benefited 300 households and over 3,100 individuals in Clarkston and surrounding cities.
- During the early stages of the pandemic, the women made over 6,000 face masks. Some were donated to the refugee community and some to essential workers. Others were sold and revenue from the initiative was able to put food on the table for many of the program participants and their families.
- AWC community mobilization and outreach efforts in partnership with Dekalb County, City of Clarkston, Dekalb County Board of Health, and CORE vaccinated over 975 adults & 370 children – some the highest Dekalb County vaccination data within the Clarkston zip code.
- We partnered with Clarkston Community Health Center to provide over 15 workshops on health, including BP, diabetes, and breast cancer screening. Our community conversations with other partners included awareness series on dispelling myths and fears about Covid-19.
- AWC is excited to announce that despite the challenges of the pandemic, we now occupy our own property in Clarkston which houses our administrative offices, a mixed-use space for classes and workshops and of course a showroom showcasing various items proudly made by refugee women in our program.
