

Carolyn F. Jones Bio

Carolyn F. Jones retired from The Weather Channel where she worked as a Senior Manager of Education Marketing. She has been involved in the broadcasting and cable industry for most of her professional career. Her background is in marketing, content development and video production. Jones began her marketing career in 1978 in the Sales and Marketing Department at Turner Broadcast. In 1985 she joined the High Museum of Art Special Events Department.

Jones serves on the Community Outreach and Events Committee at Ebenezer Baptist Church. She is a volunteer at Genesis House, a homeless shelter for infants and their family. She lives in Brook Glen Subdivision and serves as the HOA Vice President and Neighborhood Watch Block Captain.

Jones received an Associate Degree in Business Administration from Crandall Business College in Macon, Georgia.