Subject: Re: T-Hangar Waitlist Availability

Korey,

Thank you very much. The letter I sent was the same as a previous airport director told me to send when we got C-7. If the policy has changed, so be it. Same with the policy about multiple hangars. I used to be part of a group called Bonanza 5 (which still exists) that had three hangars, all in one person's name (which I thin that they still do). If that policy has also changed, again, so be it.

I would like to move from C-7 to D-31 and will give up C-7 if that is necessary. I will need a few days in both in order to get everything moved. If you have a preferred or recommended vendor to help move our things, I would appreciate the reference. There is not a lot, but enough that I can't do it myself.

Thank you very much. I have been waiting for a D hangar for quite a while and am very excited. I'm sorry for any confusion I caused.

Chuck
